MICHELLE GEFT

This workbook was recreated from my previous book "Read, Write, Recite Hebrew" for Religious Schools, Bar/Bat Mitzvah Preparation, and for anyone who would like to read printed Hebrew, but not learn the handwritten alphabet. If you would like to learn to read and write in Hebrew, please see my other book, "Read, Write, Recite Hebrew."

This is the letter ALEPH.

It is the first letter in the Aleph Bet.

Aleph is a silent letter and represents the number one.

Practice writing Aleph:

The printed letters are found on typewriters and keyboards and are seen in newspapers, books, magazines, prayer books and scriptures. They are used on anything that is printed for the masses.

The handwritten letters are found anywhere that a person writes. So letters between people, notes taken, handwritten documents will all be written in the handwritten letters, or the "script" letters. This book will not teach the written aleph-bet.

Vowel introduction:

The vowel system in Hebrew are markings under, sometimes above or beside the letters. The vowels are guides for beginner readers on how to read the words correctly and used in literature and scriptures to clarify words and avoid mispronunciations. We read Hebrew from right to left.

Here are your first vowels:

The Kamatz - _ & The Patah - _

These vowels say "A" as in Aqua. (Not as in apple.)

The Patah and the Kamatz are found at the bottom of the letter and is read in conjunction with the sound of the letter. We will practice this in upcoming pages.

There is also a  $\underline{H}$ ataf  $Pata\underline{h}$ , it looks like this: \_\_\_\_ /  $\underline{\overset{}{\mathbf{N}}}$ . It also says "a" as in  $\underline{\underline{a}}$ qua.

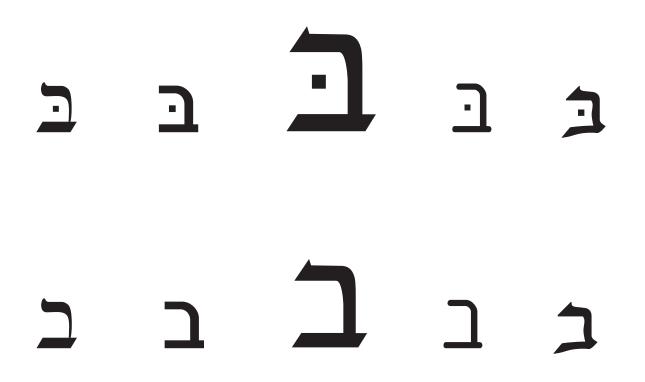

This is the letter (family) BET & VET.

It is the second letter in the Aleph Bet.

Bet says "b" as in boy,

Vet says "v" as in van.

Bet and Vet represent the number two.

The Bet and Vet are the same letter with two different pronunciations.

The dot (dagesh) in the letter changes it's sound.

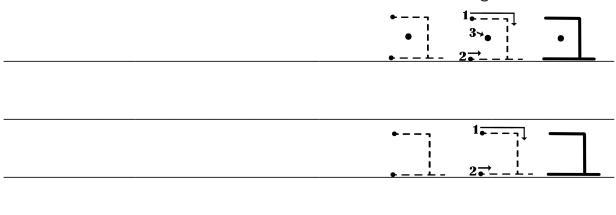

It will always have a dagesh at the beginning of the word (3), it will never have a dagesh at the end of a word (3),

and in the middle could be either depending on the circumstance.

The dot you see in the letter Bet is called a "dagesh," you will see them in future letters too. There are two types of dagesh, dagesh kal and dagesh hazak. The dagesh in the Bet is what changes the sound of the letter from "v" to "b."

Please visit www.HebrewBasics.com for audio/video companion to the dagesh and the letter families in the Aleph Bet. You can also see pages 96 and 97 for more information.

This is the letter GIMMEL. It is the third letter in the Aleph Bet.

Gimmel says "g" as in girl and represents the number three.

Practice writing Gimmel:

Here are a few Hebrew words for you to read:

back - * 1	coming - 🔭
dad - אַבָּא	roof - \(\frac{1}{2}\)

Note: When the Aleph is at the end of the word, it is silent.

*The Gimmel will always have a dagesh (dot) if it is at the beginning of a word, and sometimes in the middle of the word. In Modern Hebrew, the dagesh does not change the sound of the Gimmel.
